

Strategic Planning 2023

Community Task Force - Meeting #3
February 28, 2023

Review and Update

- In our last stakeholder session, you answered the question: What must be true of NOCS to provide students with the skills they need to thrive in changing times?
- You provided a series of responses in groups that can be broken down into these categories:
 - Resources (Financial, Facilities, Tools, Support)
 - Culture
 - Community Engagement and Participation
 - Experiences and Opportunities
- The Fielding Group held a community session and staff and student sessions

What is Vision Alignment and Why Do it?

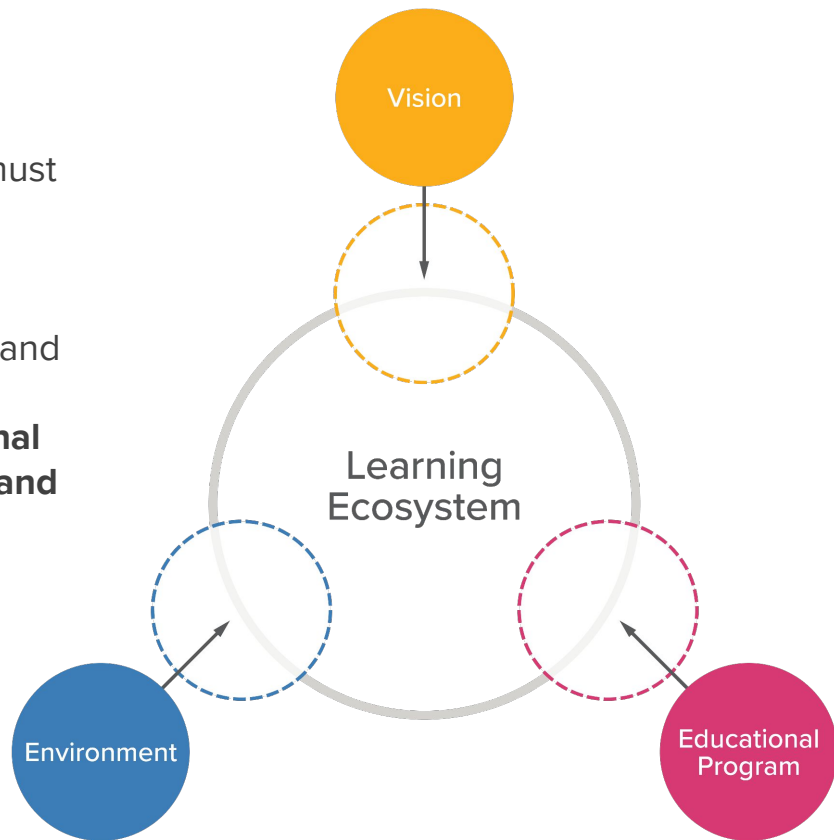

Vision alignment ensures the future you imagine is supported with a clear path to realization. It includes planning the practical and tangible steps needed to start and sustain change that will allow you to reach your strategic objectives.

Our Process

As our world rapidly changes, schools must be adaptable, future-ready ecosystems for learners to thrive now, and in the future.

Our integrated team of architects, designers, and educators partner with each school to align the environment, vision, and educational programs that will help learners thrive now and in the future.

What's important for a new School?

What did we hear and see?

Instructional Team Hopes

- + Teachers feel they have agency to dream big
- + Inspiring passion for learning and teaching
- + Creating a learning space that has a sense of magic or joy
- + Creating a place that the community and students are proud of
- + Collaboration and collective effort
- + The facility provides new opportunities and resources
- + It is durable and resilient to change

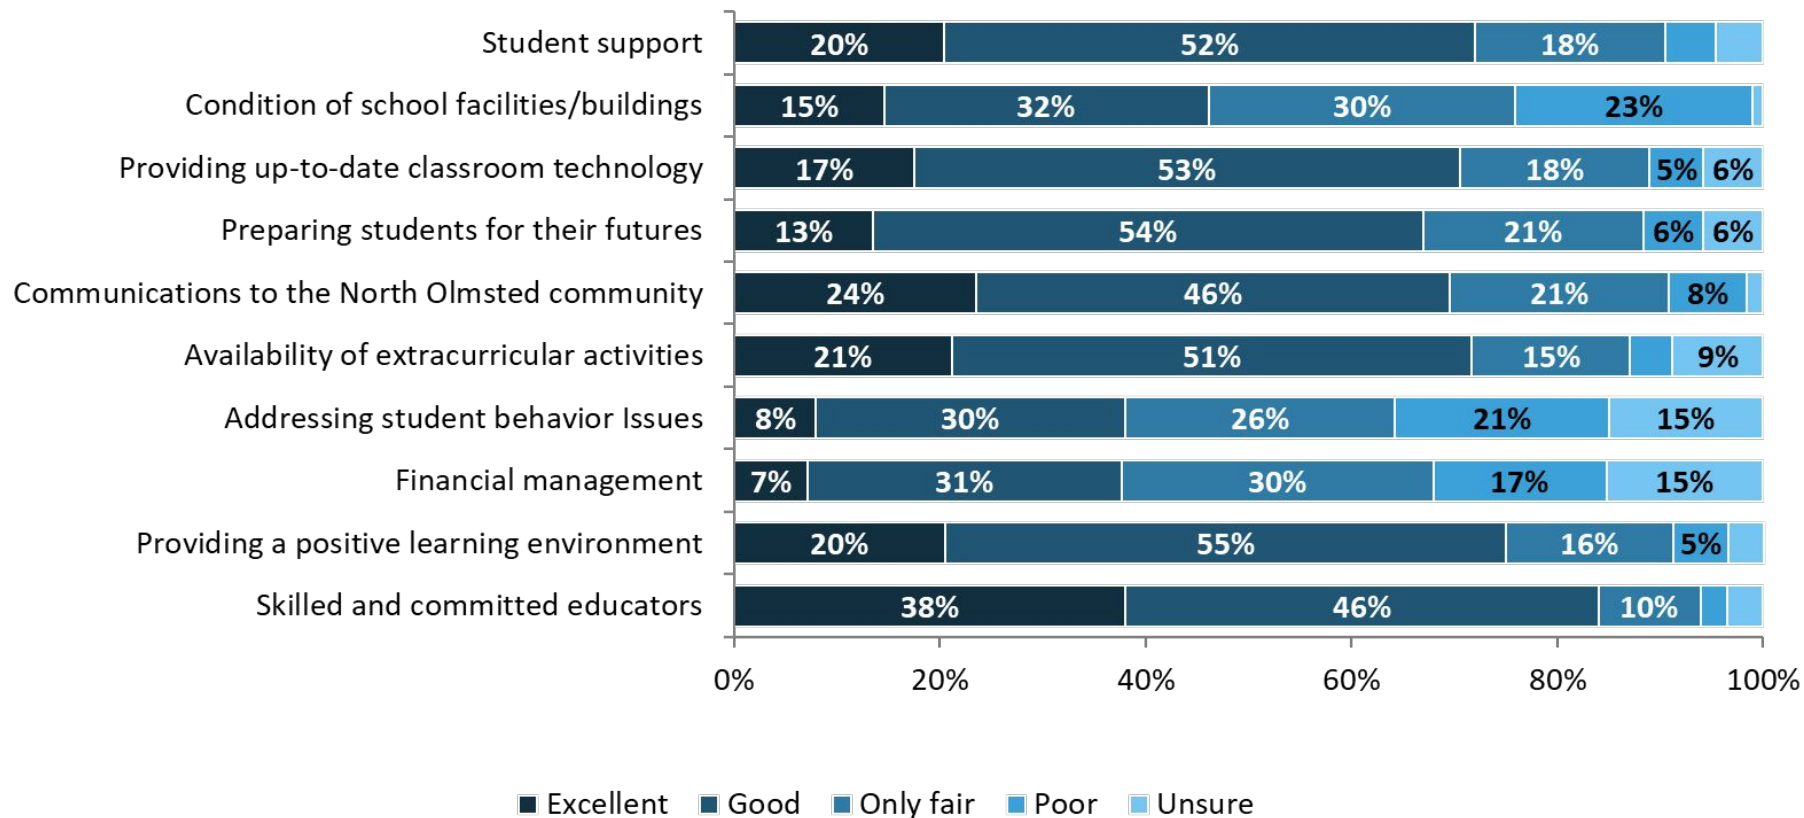

Teachers Desired Experiences for Students

- + Authentic Experiences
- + Hands-on activities
- + Connections to meaningful and relevant material
- + Cultural immersion and appreciation
- + Student choice, voice and agency
- + Experiences connected to nature and “green living”
- + Immersive opportunities

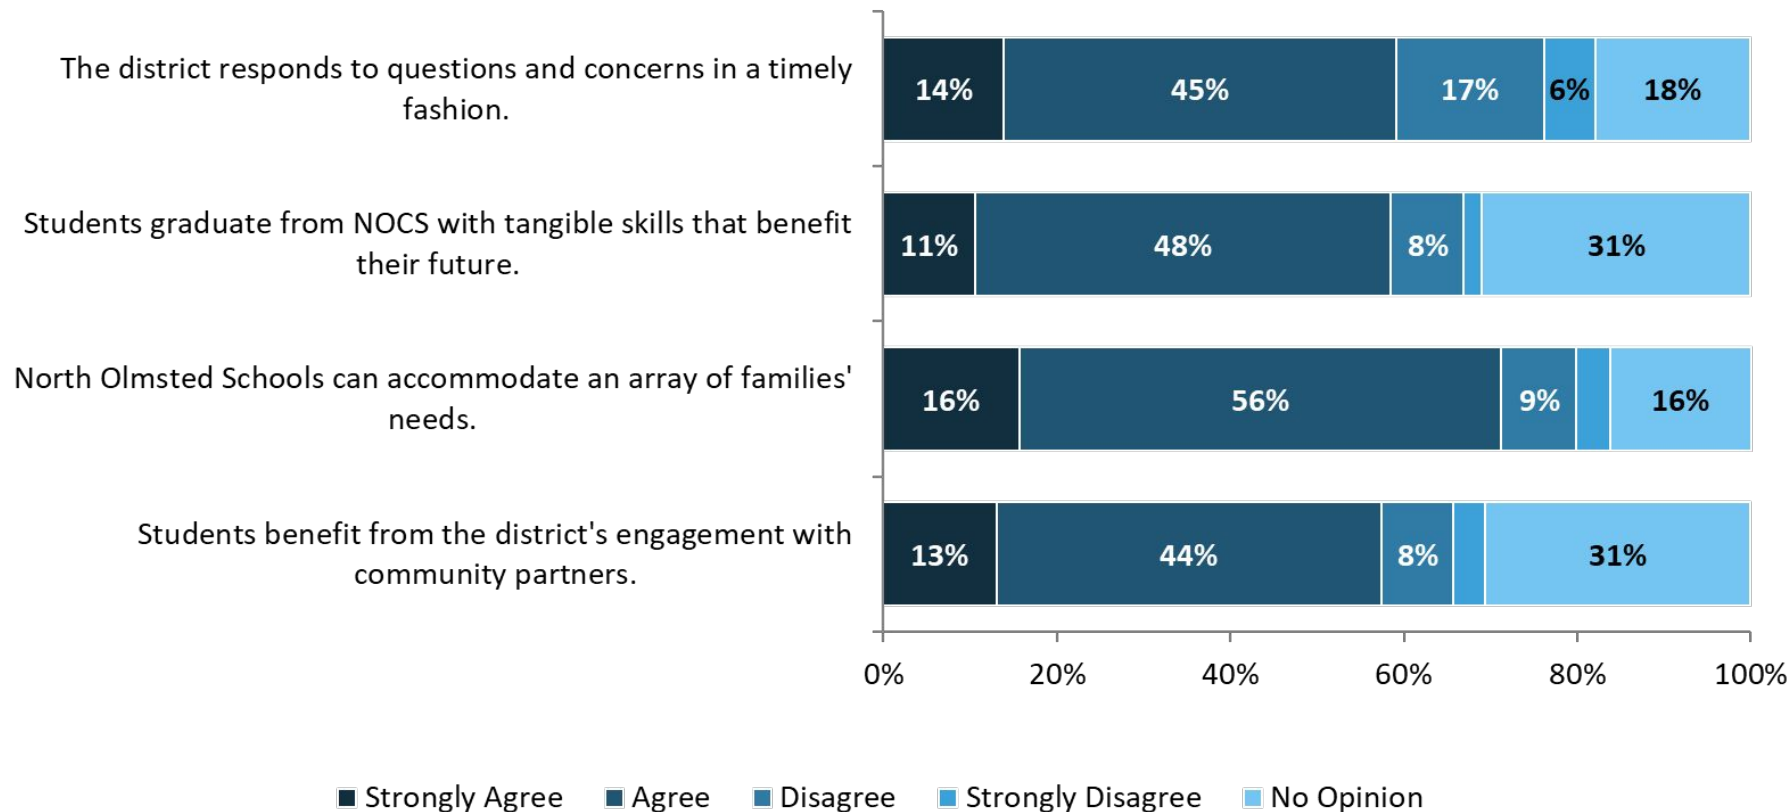

Online survey results

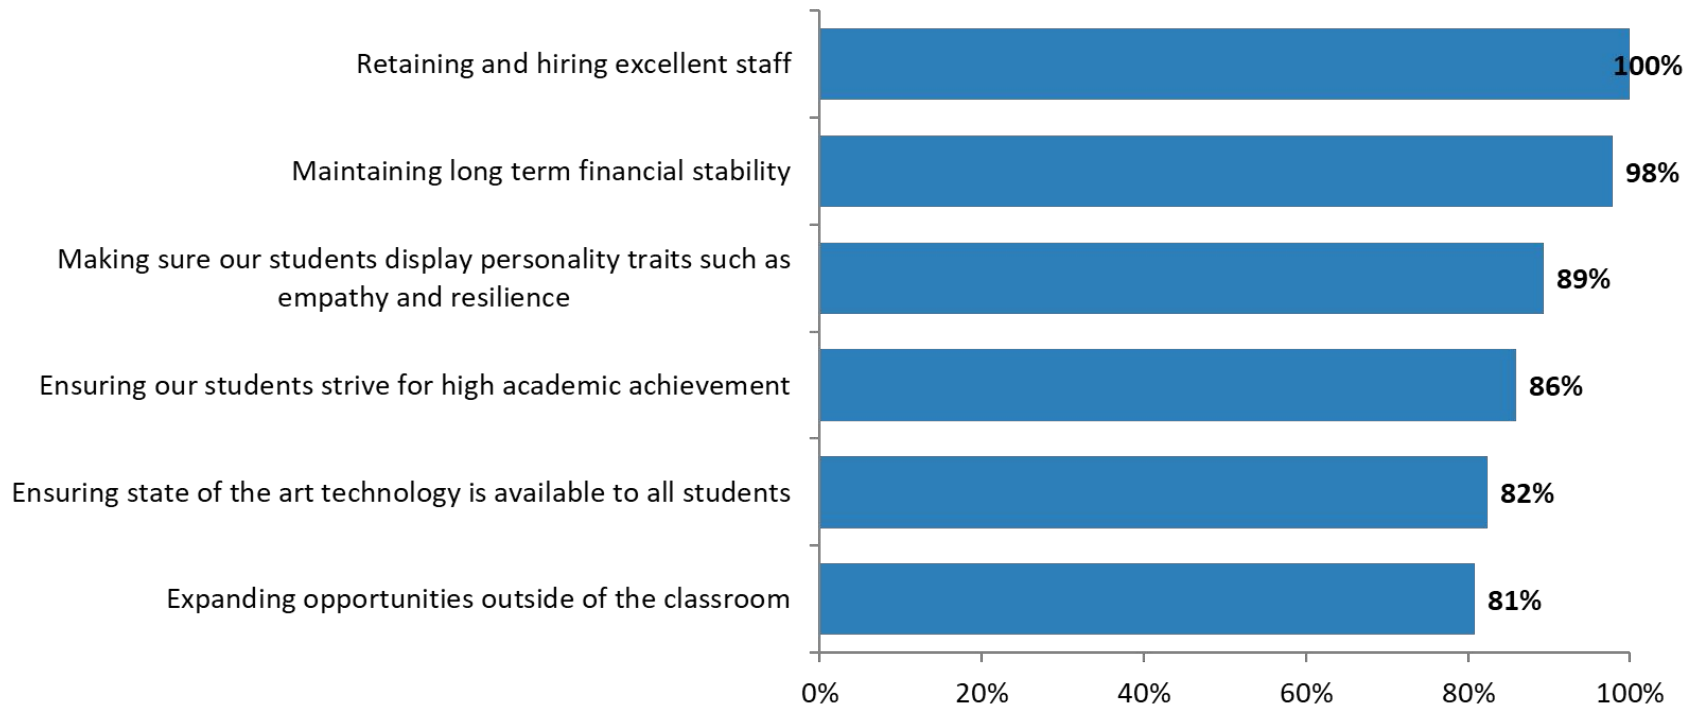

- A total of 770 participants completed the survey. This is a self selected sample of NOCS stakeholders, so while results are not statistically valid, they do provide insight into the community's' perceptions, satisfaction, and goals.
- 70% of participants are parents, with the second largest affiliation being teachers at 11%.
- In terms of age, the majority (59%) is age 35-49, and a fourth of participants (25%) are age 50-64.
- A plurality of residential participants (30%) have lived in North Olmsted for 21 years or longer, but more than a third (37%) have been residents for a decade or less.
- A majority of participants, 83% rate the quality of education at NOCS is excellent or good.
- 45% of participants indicated NOCS is going in the right direction, 16% wrong direction, and 26% staying the same.
